State Constitutional Convention.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY.

Convention met at 10 o'clock, President Ransom in the chair.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Spake of the Convention.

Journal of Saturday read and approved.

Mr. Turner presented a couple of petitions from various tax-payers of Wake county, proposing that the Convention would pass an ordinance preventing the General Assembly from paying the special tax bonds, without first submitting the question to the people. Calendar.

Mr. Bennett, from the committee on the Judicial Department; Mr. Reid, from the committee on Revision, and Mr. Manning, from the committee on the Judicial Department, submitted reports, all of which were placed on the calendar.

Mr. Alberston moved to suspend the rules and take up the ordinance defining the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The motion was adopted and the ordinance passed its several readings.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, moved to suspend the rules and take up the resolution declaring that the General Assembly shall not pay special tax bonds without first consulting the people at the ballot box. An acclamation vote was taken and the Chair announced the motion lost.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, insisted that he had demanded the yeas and nays before the result was announced.

The Chair said that the result had been announced before the demand was made. A confusion followed, lasting a few moments.

The Chair then reiterated his decision, and the motion to suspend the rules was declared lost.

Mr. Morehead moved to suspend the rules and take up the ordinance reducing the number of State Senators to 25. Lost by a vote of 55 to 56.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, renewed his motion to suspend the rules and take up the resolution in regard to the payment of the special tax bonds. The yeas and nays were called and the motion failed to prevail by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Allison, Allman, Anderson, of Clay, Anderson, of Madison, Avery, Bennett, Bingham, Boyd, Bunn, Byrd, Carter, Cooper, Cowell, Cunningham, Dobson, Everett, Faison, Farrior, George, Green, Harrington, Hassel, Henderson, Jarvis, King, of Pitt, Kirby, Love, Manning, of Chatham, Marshall, McCorkle, McEachin, Morehead, Motz, Neal, Nicholson, Nowell, Patterson, Price, Redwine, Reid, Robbins, Roberts, of Davidson, Roberts, of Gates, Rumley, Scott, of Onslow, Shepherd, Shober, Sinclair, Singeltary, Spake, Stallings, Stroud, Summers, Vaughan, Watts, Wilson and Withers—56.

NAYS.—Messrs. Albertson, Barringer, Barrow, Bateman, Bean, Bell, Black, Blivens, Buxton, Bryan, Cary, Chamberlain, Clingman, Coleman, Crosby, Davis, Dockery, Durham, Faircloth, Grantham, Hampton Hinnant, Hodge, Hoffman, Horton, Jones, of Yadkin, Jordan, Justice, Kerr, King, of Lenoir, Lehman, Lowe, Mabson, Massey, McCabe, McDonald, Munden, Page, Scott, of Jones, Smyth, Taylor, Thorne, Tourgee, Turner, Wheeler, Wilcox, Woodfin and Young—44.

Mr. Turner changed his vote to the negative, in order to move a reconsideration.

By Mr. Jarvis, a resolution to adjourn sine die at 6 p. m. to-day.

He moved to suspend the rules and take up the resolution for consideration and adoption.

The yeas and nays were called on the motion to suspend the rules, and the rules suspended by a vote of 108 to 2.

Mr. Turner moved an amendment that the Convention adjourn to-morrow at 6 o'clock.

This motion incidentally brought about a discussion concerning the special tax bonds, participated in by Messrs. Turner and Clingman.

Mr. Durham moved the previous question. Adopted.

Mr. Turner's amendment was lost.

The motion to adjourn at 6 o'clock was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Wilcox arose to a question of personal privilege, as a member of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, in which he represented that the action of the Convention in regard to the Robeson county contest was unwarrantable and an act of injustice to the people of Robeson county, to Messrs. Norment and McNeill and to the people of the State.

Mr. Wilcox asked that he be allowed to resign his position on the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Mr Withers, from the Committee, defended the actions of that Committee. After the matter had been placed properly before his Committee he had, as a member, moved an immediate appointment of a Commissioner in order to investigate it fully and fairly, and that the minority of the Committee (the Republican members) objected upon the grounds that the Commissioner would not have time to move in the premises before the Convention should adjourn, and that whatever delay had been occasioned was chargeable to the Republicans of the Convention who had endeavored to seat Messrs. Norment and McNeill without the investigation demanded in justice to all parties, and not to the Committee or the Democratic members of this Convention.

Mr. Manning of Chatham, Chairman of the Committee, said the Committee had been as prompt in the discharge of its duties as it was possible for them to be. He then reviewed its actions from the beginning of the session. He knew of no instance where a contested case was decided sooner, and certainly not where the Committee was without rules and without precedent. They had acted only with the intention of doing justice to all parties, and any imputation otherwise did gross injustice to this Committee.

Mr. Turner then took the floor on a question of personal privilege, occupying the floor for the space of an hour in an exposition of railroad frauds.

During his remarks some half dozen Republican members endeavored to reply to some of Mr. Turner's charges, and much confusion prevailed at one time, the Chair finally securing order.

Mr. Wilcox again obtained the floor in regard to the Robeson county contested case, in response to the remarks of Messrs. Withers and Manning.

Mr Avery, on a question of personal privilege, in response to Mr. Wilcox, said the majority of the Committee on Privileges and Elections had used every effort to have the Robeson county case investigated, and said that Mr. Wilcox, as a member of that Committee, had never in Committee meeting made any motion looking to an investigation; that the Secretary of the Committee reported that Mr. Wilcox had never made any motion at any meeting except to adjourn; that he (Avery) has always been in favor of appointing a commissioner to go to Robeson county to investigate this matter and let the people know which contesting party was entitled to seats in this Convention, regardless of the fact that the Convention might adjourn before said commissioner might report. To the appointment of this commissioner, Mr. Avery charged that Mr. Wilcox and all the minority members of the committee were at all times opposed on the ground that the commissioner could not perform his duties and return to the Convention in time. Mr. Avery continued at some length in an able manner to defend the action of the majority of the committee.

On motion, a recess was taken until 4:30 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Convention reassembled at 5:30 o'clock, President Ransom in the chair.

Mr. Young moved a suspension of the rules in order to consider the question of paying the contestant from the county of Surry. Motion withdrawn.

Mr. Barringer, rep, asked to read a protest from himself and a number of his party friends against the action of the Convention, (being a document some 30 or 40 pages in length.)

Mr. Jarvis objected to the admission of the protest. It was wrong, grievously wrong, that at the hour of the close of the Convention a protest of any character against anything that has occurred during the session of this Convention should be offered by any one. Every fair-minded man in the Convention must admit that such conduct was totally wanting in fairness, and he was surprised at the conduct of the gentleman from Mecklenburg in doing this thing.

Mr. Barringer moved that the protest be received.

Mr. Tourgee moved the previous question.

Mr. Jarvis moved to lay the motion of Mr. Barringer upon the table upon which he called the ayes and noes, but before the vote could be announced, (which had prevailed by some nine majority,) the President announced that the hour of 6 having arrived, he declared the Convention adjourned sine die.

A MEETING OF THE MEMBERS AND RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

After the Convention had been declared adjourned, Mr. Manning, of Chatham, took the President's stand and called the meeting to order, when Mr. Reid, of Rockingham, said that an adjournment of the Convention having taken place before the offering of a resolution of thanks could be made to the presiding officer of the Convention, he would now offer the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the members of the Convention present are due and are hereby tendered to the Hon. Edward Ransom, for the able, dignified, and impartial manner in which he has presided over the deliberations of the Convention.

Dr. Ransom responded as follows:

Gentlemen, The time has arrived for our dissolution, we shall soon be scattered to every part of the State to our respective homes, and in all probability many of us will never meet again.

Allow me to congratulate you upon the harmony and good feeling which has prevailed since we assembled; your labors, though they have been ardeous and laborious, yet you have discharged them with that zeal and energy never before exhibited by any other legislative body; you have faithfully complied with the objects for which your body was called together and have discharged the high duties imposed upon you with honor and credit to yourselves.

I sincerely hope the amendments passed by you may meet the approbation of the people and be abundantly fruitful of great good in developing and promoting the peace and happiness of our citizens, as well as building up living monuments of honor and glory for yourselves more lasting than brass.

Permit me to return my unfeigned thanks for the resolution you have just passed so complimentary of myself as your presiding officer. I shall ever cherish it in my bosom as a high and warm expression of a satisfactory approval of the discharge of my duties, though without experience and feebly done. Yet I endeavored to discharge them honestly, impartially and satisfactorily.

It is with no little degree of pleasure that I return to this honorable body my sincere gratitude for the assistance, courtesy and respect which has been extended me as your presiding officer.

The lovers of an imported cigar will find the article in one of Geo. Ziegler's elegant "La Africanas."

SUDDEN DEATHS IN RALEIGH.—We copy from the Sentinel of yesterday evening the following account of the sudden deaths of two of our citizens on Sunday last:

Two well-known citizens of Raleigh died yesterday almost without a moment's warning. About 11 o'clock in the forenoon, Edmund Edward Harris, while walking in his garden, fell to the ground and was dead before he could be carried into the house. He was born in Prince George county, Virginia, December 29, 1811, and was consequently in his 64th year of his age. He settled in North Carolina more than forty years ago. In 1840, he married Martha Spear Gorman, of this city, who made him, through all the vicissitudes of life, a fond and faithful wife. He was a man of warm, strong feelings; frank, honest and courageous; and would go far to serve a friend or meet a foe. He was a stranger to every cold, selfish or timid calculation; and, though stern and inflexible of will, the story of calamity would touch his heart and fill his eye, as promptly as a woman's. He had a wide circle of friends; and outside of his own bereaved family circle, there are many who will sincerely and tenderly mourn his death. The flags are at half-mast to-day, as a tribute of respect to his memory, and his funeral at the Baptist church this afternoon was largely attended.

Joseph T. Backalan had been confined to his room for about two weeks; but yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock was sitting up in a chair, and seemingly rapidly improving. He was talking pleasantly when, all at once, he fell forward and died almost instantly. He never spoke after falling. He a German by birth, and came to Raleigh in 1865. He has filled a number of important positions in our city government, having been street commissioner, chief of the fire department, and a member of the board of commissioners from the western ward. He was generally esteemed as an upright man in all the relations of life. He was buried this forenoon by the Masons of Wm. G. Hill lodge, with the honors and ceremonies of that mystic brotherhood.

Geo. Zieglar's "Flor del Fumars" are well tasted, well filled and free smokers.

STATE FAIR—The articles and stock entered, so far, more than come up to the expectation of the most sanguine friends of the Fair. There were yesterday afternoon nine engines entered, and on the grounds ten trotting and running horses, four of the latter to contend for the five hundred dollar citizens' purse, perhaps the best horses that have been in Raleigh since the war. Capt. Alexander's great horse Abdel is here. He has made the best time on record for a three year old in a four mile race, and it is worth a day's journey to see him. Gen. Matt. Ransom's horses will be on the grounds to-day, and no better could be exhibited. There is now entered on the grounds some cattle as fine as the world could produce of the short horn breeds, the favorite breed of the day. Many articles, too, for Floral Hall are in the city, ready to be taken to the grounds to-day, and altogether, there is a prospect of a splendid show, one equal to the best ever seen in the State, and if the weather is propitious the number of people present will be equal if not surpassing those of any previous year. But Raleigh increases daily in dimensions, and can accommodate conveniently, all who wish to attend the Fair and visit the city, at this time.

"Prize Medal" is the name of a cigar highly prized by all who have tried it. Geo. Zieglar is the manufacturer.

SEND YOUR THINGS TO FLORAL HALL.—The ladies and others of Raleigh will to-day undoubtedly contribute largely to the exhibition in Floral Hall. Every other department is exceedingly well represented, but as this hall is never filled until the first day, we expect to see this department filled before to-night. The crowd in attendance will be exceedingly large, and everything possible should be done by our people to add to the pleasure of the visitors.

Citizen's Favorite—Leopold's "Raleigh Belle" cigar. Mosley has them at the Fair Grounds.

CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE.—See the prominent advertisement in another column of Messrs. Law & Co., who have in the Holloman building, Fayetteville street, one of the most elegant crockery stores in the South. Call and see their stock of goods and you cannot fail to be pleased.

Newspaper advertising is the most energetic and vigilant of salesmen, addresses thousands each day, always in the advertiser's interest, and ceaselessly at work seeking customers from all classes.

AN AMUSING SCENE.—Yesterday while Gen. Clingman was speaking in reference to the effort being made in the Convention to repudiate the special tax bonds, the speaker paid a "glowing tribute" to Jake Scott, Esq., the delegate from Jones, for the brilliant manner with which he (Scott) presided over a few faithful at Metropolitan Hall Saturday night—or rather the manner in which he didn't preside, as the meeting did not organize—which meeting had been called to instruct the Convention to repudiate these bonds. The General wished the State to build Jake a monument that would not only reach the skies but would pierce them, and until this could be done he moved that Black Mountain in this State be called "Jake Scott" in honor of this delegate. Mr. Scott, who had been an amused listener on the opposite side of the house, was so impressed with the Gen'l's eloquence, he crossed over to where General Clingman was standing and gave him a hearty shake of the hands, amid the uproarious applause of the house. So henceforth let Black Mountain be called "Jake Scott" in honor of this Eastern delegate.

Dealers who wish to keep in stock the most popular brands of cigars, should not fail to keep a plentiful supply of Geo. Ziegler's celebrated brands. They are reliable, saleable and sold at low prices.

PROGRAMME FOR TO-DAY.—The following is the programme for to-day, the opening day of the State Fair:

The President of the Society with His Excellency the Governor, will leave the National Hotel for the Fair Grounds, escorted by the Chief Marshall and his Assistants. At 11 o'clock His Excellency will deliver the opening address.

At 12 o'clock M., Race No. 1—Breeders' Purse, $50, will take place, half-mile heats, best 2 in 3 to harness; for Colts 3 years old and under, owned in the State six months previous to the Fair, 3 or more to enter, 2 to start.

At 1 o'clock, Race No. 2, open to the world. Running race, single dash, ½ mile.

A 2 o'clock, Race No. 3, running race 1 mile dash.

There will be a meeting of the North Carolina Agricultural Society at the House of Representatives at 7½ o'clock. All persons interested in the welfare of the Society are requested to attend.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE CONVENTION.—After a session of thirty-one working days the Convention adjourned last evening at 6 o'clock. Much was expected from the Convention. Much has been done, and yet it may be regretted that a sweeping reversal of the Constitution has not been effected. There was so much to do, and there is so much undone. Yet the East has its relief, if it can rely upon the Legislature. That body has it in its power to give such aid as will liberate the East from its heaviest points of grievance. Now let us hear from the East. The Eastern men know what they want, and the West are ready to meet their demands. This is really the most important work of the Convention. But we will give in a day or two a full abstract of the whole work of the body.

Raleigh's favorite cigar, "Little Maimee." Sold at Pepper's, Royster's, Simpson's Mosleys, Joseph's and Leopold's.

SUICIDE OF A CITIZEN OF LEXINGTON.—A correspondent at Lexington, N. C., under date of Saturday, sends us the following account of a suicide in that place:

Dr. J. K. Pinnix, of Lexington, committed suicide on the night of the 8th inst., at his residence, by placing a gun on the table with a string attached to him in bed. The shot entered about one inch and a half above the right ear and lodging in his brain. He lingered in pain until 7 a. m. this morning, when he expired. Mr. Pinnix was widely known throughout this section of the country, a courteous and kind gentleman, and one whom the community will miss sadly. He contemplated putting up a large tobacco factory at this point in the Spring, but his sad end will retard its erection. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. The cause of this suicide is unknown, although rumors have it that it was troubles in financial business.

Centennial is all the go, so it is with Geo. Ziegler's celebrated "Centennial" brand of cigars.

A CONVENIENT POCKET-BOOK.—Bradley's Pocket-Book Almanac and instructor in all farming operations, can be had of W. C. & A. B. Stronach and Geo. T. Stronach & Co., in the NEWS Building, and also at the Fair Grounds, free of cost. The matter is compiled in this city, and printed and bound at the Bindery of Jno. C. Armstrong, Esq., and the Messrs. Stronach inform us they are furnished them at $70 per thousand less than New York houses offered to do them for. We are informed by the Messrs. Stronach that they will be the agents for the Sea Fowl and Bradley's Phosphates for the next season, and their advertisement will be found in the NEWS.

The general favorite is esteemed to be Geo. Zieglers "Raleigh Favorite," a most genial companion to all who indulge in a good smoke. The name is so popular, we need hardly mention that it is manufactured by Geo. Ziegler. All dealers have them in stock.

THE MARSHALS FOR THE FAIR.—The following are the Marshals for the State Fair to be held this week:

Chief Marshal:
A. W. Graham, Orange Co.

Assistant Marshals:
Peter F. Pescud, Jr., Wake.
W. A. B. Branch, Beaufort.
Wm. Whitford, Craven.
Preston Cumming, New Hanover.
L. McK. Long, Halifax.
M. J. Hawkins, Warren.
Geo. Grotz, Wake.
Wm. Lipscomb, Orange.
A. G. Moore, Alamance.
A. D. Jenkins, Wake.
R. A. Greer, Mecklenburg.
F. H. Fries, Forsythe.
Cary Grandy, Granville.
John M. Walker, Rockingham.
James L. Legrand, Richmond.

ROSE AND HARRY WATKINS.—This company opened the season at Tucker Hall last night to a good audience, and the play of the Lady of Lyons was well rendered by Rose and Harry, though they were wanting somewhat in their supports. We are pleased to learn, however, they will have two valuable additions to their company this evening, when the touching play of "Kathleen Mavourneen" will be rendered. In this play Rose and Harry Watkins show their best talent, and we hope to see them have a crowded house.

BEAUTIFUL COTTON.—We were shown yesterday a specimen of a bale of cotton from the gin of Michael Whitley, Esq., in the Eastern portion of Wake, which ranked strictly as middling fair, being as beautiful a specimen of cotton as we ever saw. It commanded a cent more in this market than other cotton. This county can scarcely be surpassed elsewhere in the South in the grade of its cotton crop.

A CONTRIBUTION BOX FOR ORPHAN ASYLUM.—Mrs. S. A. Elliott of Oxford, has prepared a contribution box to be placed in one of the halls at the Fair Grounds, in which visitors can place money for the benefit of the needy orphans at the Oxford Asylum. A great deal of good may be done this way, and we sincerely hope those visiting the grounds will remember to place something in the box.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A CITIZEN OF GRANVILLE.—We learn that Mr. Patrick Bobbitt, an esteemed citizen of Granville, living near Oxford, died almost suddenly on Friday last. He had been engaged in his potato patch, when he fell to the ground and was conveyed to the house, but died soon afterwards.

ENGINES AT THE FAIR.—The Erie City Iron Works, through its Charlotte branch, under the charge of Mr. W. C. Morgan, has on exhibition at the Fair Grounds this week four handsome engines of different kinds, as well as other machinery. Mr. Morgan never fails to be represented at our State Fair.

TUCKER'S.—The magnificent store of the Messrs. Tucker was crowded to overflowing on Saturday, fully two thousand persons being present during the day. But they did not buy it out. Tucker has enough for every body who comes to the Fair, and when the Fair is over there will be plenty still.

NOTICE TO GRANGERS.—A room will be appropriated to the use of the Patrons of Husbandry, on the ground at the State Fair this week. The officers of the State Grange will be found there daily, and will be pleased to meet members of the order.

AN UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT.—The strongest argument which can be urged against the advisability of administering such corrosive and nerve-destroying poisons as arsenic and quinine for intermittent and remittent fevers, is the vastly superior success in the prevention and cure of such diseases of a medicine which is the very antipode of the above named drugs, both in respect of its composition and the results wrought by it. Such a medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a purely vegetable preparation, which not only eradicates with wonderful promptitude every trace of fever and ague, and kindred types of malarious diseases, from the system, but is a certain preventive of all maladies begotten of miasma-tainted air and water. These results mineral anti-febrile remedies do not effect with certainty, and their continued use entails consequences highly pernicious to the system. The Bitters, on the contrary, not only afford speedy relief, but establish health on a permanent basis.

Notice to Correspondents.

No letter can be published in these columns which is not authenticated by the name of its author. This we require, not for publication, but as a guarantee of the good faith of correspondents. Persons who violate this rule will have their communications consigned to the waste-basket.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

BY her new Constitution—if it is ratified, and it seems certain to be—Alabama will save $160,000. The election will take place on the first Tuesday after the third Monday in November.

Note About the Banking House of Duncan, Sherman & Co.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer of last Friday says of the election in that State to-day: "The question will be settled in Ohio next Tuesday whether the National Banks, the Eastern money lenders and the Government rings can control the politics of the country in their own selfish interests. It is the battle of the rich few against the laboring many.'

THAT President Grant has really fixed upon a successor of Delano, and that person appointed has accepted, is indicated by the fact, vouched for by the Washington Star, that last week there was forwarded for the president's signature a commission for the secretaryship, which was expected to overtake the presidential party at Denver, Col.

A WASHINGTON telegram to the New York Herald, under date of Friday, says: "Gov. Hendricks, who has spent much time in canvassing Ohio, has written a letter to a gentleman in this city, in which he says: "I have just returned from Ohio. Will make two more speeches. Both sides claim the victory. I think Allen will be elected, but I am not confident. Every personal effort possible is being made by the Republicans, aided with money."

MR. MOODY, the great revivalist, seems to find a sort of "Jordan" in New England rather "hard to travel," for where-ever he goes the Unitarians assail him. Just now he is in Connecticut, and his sermons are from time to time reviewed by those who differ from him; indeed, his usefulness is boldly called in question. This happened to him in England, but he succeeded, and it now remains to be seen if this prophet shall be without honor in his own country.

THE OHIO ELECTION.

The nation looks with intense interest upon the election in Ohio to-day. It marks the fate of the Presidential campaign of next year. We have no doubt of the result. Ohio can not go back on herself. The financial question is the absorbing topic, and with the idea of personal suffering and business prostration, we know that Ohio must go one way.

PERSONAL.

In the DAILY NEWS of the 6th inst. there appeared an article commenting upon an article in the Asheville Pioneer, which paper sought to reflect upon Mr. Spake, the delegate from Jackson. The article in the NEWS was understood by Mr. Wilcox, the delegate from Ashe, to be a reflection upon himself, in consequence of which he used language offensive to the editor of this paper.

Without going into the details of the misunderstanding, or the manner of its arrangement, as it is a matter in which the public is only indirectly interested, we are at liberty to state that Mr. Wilcox has withdrawn everything offensive towards us; and we now state that the article to which exception was taken was misunderstood by Mr. Wilcox, as we have been always willing to concede that he was as honest in his political convictions as others, though these convictions differed from ours.

THE CONVENTION

Adjourned last evening at 6 o'clock, not at all hurriedly, but by agreement. We will begin at once to publish the ordinances passed, and will inform the public of what has been done. Much has been done. Something has been left undone. But taking into consideration the peculiar composition of the body, we think the work will be found to be advantageous to the State, and to have reflected credit upon a body which has been industriously at work for the last month.

THE FAIR.

To-day, the grounds of the North Carolina State Fair are opened, and we are pleased to say with more than usual interest. For fifteen years the Agricultural Society has struggled against a popular sentiment, somewhat against the effort to build up a State Institution. We think it has been accomplished now. The energies of Col. Holt and Major Winder have been directed to the main point of making the present Fair a success. For not only North Carolina has been aroused, but the interest of other States have been enlisted. Never before has such a promise been given by exhibitors abroad.

We look with ford anticipation to the opening of the gates, and the display of the Exposition.

PERHAPS the most striking commentary in the depressed [illegible] unfavorable per cent. better, [illegible] ent to other [illegible] condition of affairs, truthfully says the Norfolk Landmark, is presented in the simple fact that Pittsburg at present, is said to be "a smokeless city." Any one who has ever seen the great cloud hanging over that once busy centre of industry, will understand the meaning of this brief description, in which we read a sad prediction of want and destitution for the coming winter. Unfortunately this prospect is not confined to that once busy city; but turn where you will throughout the North and you are confronted by armies of working people out of employment. When these are pinched by cold and hunger and decimated by disease, we shall see the tidal wave of Democracy rising still higher and and sweeping on with an increased volume; for the people who suffer will rightfully hold the party in power responsible for their sufferings. In this direction, too, the inflation party will receive recruits, for a starving man will vote for more money—any sort of money, rag or other—when his pocket is empty, his appetite unappeased, and his family suffering. In one word, the approaching winter will sound the death-knell of the Republican party, and when it is buried it will have none so poor to do it reverence.

WE copy with pleasure the following compliment from the Petersburg (Va.) Index-Appeal to North Carolina genius: "The last two novels announced from the pens of lady writers, are both the productions of North Carolina's gifted daughters. These are a Question of Honor, by Christian Reid, and the Lucy Diamonds by the author of the Odd Trump series. We have not read either of these volumes (for indeed we never have time to read anything now-a-days,) but we find them both highly commended by the critics of other journals. Miss Fisher has won for herself a name in American literature of which any author would have a just right to be proud. She has made her own way, and is now recognised by the very leading critics of the country to stand among the first novelists of the day, their full peer. In fact, the literary ladies of North Carolina are facile principes among all the female writers of the South. We might even say without exaggeration, that the ladies of no other Southern State have developed any such conspicuous literary taste and intellectual powers as to fit them for eminent recognition in the field of letters. We take a high degree of pride in the modest yet signal triumphs of the pen which have been won by these ladies of North Carolina. They reflect the highest credit on that much underrated and much misunderstood State. It goes without saying that a people capable of producing so many and such flowers of literary excellence and beauty, must be a people of native power and genius, and endowed with the means of application and cultivation. A wild people do not produce such rare romancers as Christian Reid, for the novel-writer requires a high degree of study and preparation. All honor to the noble women of the Old North State, who are winning these literary laurels, and giving such abundant proofs of their culture and talent. They add an increased lustre to the honored old Commonwealth, and are achieving high and permanent pedestals for themselves in the temple of Southern authorship."

A Thrilling Adventure—A Railroad Incident in Germany.

A correspondent writes to the Boston Advertiser, travelling in Germany, narrates this thrilling incident:

It was a third class carriage. She was a pleasant-faced woman, going, I think, for the first time after her marriage, to visit her parents at her old home, to show them their two fine grandchildren. At least, this was the little history I build up for her in my own brain from a word or two that I heard between her and her husband at the station, as he put her into the carriage with an affectionate farewell. I always watch with great interest the farewells and greetings of my fellow-travellers, and have a fashion of thinking out for myself the whole story of their previous lives from the little hint that I get in this way. It is to me as if I were permitted to open the second volume of an interesting romance, and allowed to read only one short scene in this and asked to guess as nearly as possible from this one scene the previous course of the story and the character of the actors in it.

The youngest child was an infant of about three or four months old, very quiet and good; the other was a pretty restless little girl of three who could not be still a single moment, and kept the careful mother busy by her questions and wants, and childish prattle. She was not at all bashful and soon talked to us also in such a natural, coquettish, condescending way that we were quite in love with the charming litle lassie, and begged her mother not to check her innocent advances to us.

When we had been traveling together for two or three hours, and began to feel quite like old acquaintances, while the train was going at full speed the mother half arose from her seat to place the little girl who had left her place again on the opposite seat. How it happened I never understood. It was one of these accidents which seem impossible [illegible] in fact only happens [illegible] dred thousand time, 8210%
HEAVY COPPER [illegible] in a hundred minutes, but just as she stood half erect, holding her little frolicsome maiden somewhat awkwardly on the other, the little girl made one of her sudden quick movements and in an instant she was gone from our eyes.

What a moment! The poor mother stood fixed and rigid in exactly the same attitude, her arm still bent as though around her child, gazing with wide open, fixed eyes at the place whence she vanished. She seemed literally suddenly turned to stone. How long this lasted I do not know; doubtless it seemed to us much longer than it really was. Then the young mother seemed to come to herself, and made a sudden movement as if she would spring through the window after her vanished darling, now far away. I caught her quickly and held her, while the kind lady who sat opposite to me took the baby from her arms, and we all began to talk together, no one listening to the other about what was to be done for her. Somehow we managed in our excitement to do all that was possible; the guard came, the train was stopped, and the mother, without speaking to one of us, or even looking at us, left the train, supporting herself on one arm of the sympathizing guard, while he held the still sleeping baby fast in the other.

Of course the train must go with increased speed to make up for the moment of delay, so there was no chance for us to see more of the bereaved mother. "Telegraph to us at the next station," said one of the railroad functionaries to the guard. "Yes, yes, be sure to do it immediately," cried a dozen voices; for in some mysterious way the news of the accident had run through the train as if by electricity, and a long row of sympathizing faces watched from the carriage the disappearing forms of the mother and the guard.

"It will take her half an hour to reach the spot, and it is just 35 minutes now to the next station," said the stout gentleman in the corner, taking out his watch and holding it open in his hand, his eyes fixed upon it. He had struck me as one of the most selfish and disagreeable old gentlemen possible, scarcely answering a polite question from a neighbor, and then in the shortest and gruffest manner possible; he had seemed completely absorbed by his newspaper and his snuff-box, not having noticed the little fairy in any way except to glance at her now and then with a savage expression as her clear childish laugh had disturbed his reading. Now his whole soul seemed to be fixed on the watch before him, and he "chided the tiny flight of time" again and again in words more forcible than ornamental.

There was a young would-be dandy in one corner; light, straw-colored gloves, a slender cane, an infant moustache, and an eye-glass stuck in one eye, seemed to be in his opinion, tokens of vast superiority over the other travellers, and he spoke very little, except occasionally to make some supercilious remark or ask some questions about third-class traveling, apparently to produce on us the impression that he was a young nobleman or prince, perhaps, in disguise, seeing for himself how ordinary mortals fared. What a change had come over him now; the eye-glass hung hither and thither; with the kid gloves, of which he had been so dainty, he had grasped the dusty facing of the door, and was straining his gaze backward, until the poor mother was no longer to be seen, and then forward to the next station, where news was to meet us.

Now at last we are there, the train halts and one of the guards runs quickly into the little office over which "Telegraph" is painted. Everybody who can possibly get his or her head out of the window on that side thrusts it out. There is a moment of suspense; here comes the guard again with a dispatch in his hand, he stands about midway between the ends of the train, and begins to read it out in his clear loud official tones: "Child perfectly sound alighted on a pile of straw in a field not two feet from a stone wall."

Then what a scene! Every man at the train windows has his hat off in a moment, and is waving it and cheering as if he would split his throat; every woman is buried in her pocket handkerchief, crying and laughing together. The stout old egotist and the vain young dandy have thrown arms around each other and are embracing with that heartiness that belongs to the sons of the Vaterland, although they never met before this morning. The stiff old maid in the corner has shaken my hands in both hers so many times that I feel they are quite sore.

All the inhabitants of the little village come running around the train. "What is it? Where is he? Is it the Kaiser himself, or is it the Kron Prinz?" they ask, in bewildered excitement at the sight of ours.

But all the Kaisers and Kron Prinzes in Europe put together could not have aroused the flood of feeling that surge through that train. It was sympathy with a sentiment far older than loyalty; older than the kings to whom loyalty is due—which was stirring every heart; it was sympathy with a mother's love.

MARY'S LAMB.—Mary's little lamb was one of a pair of twins, and was thrust out of the pen by its natural mother. Mary took it home and made a pet of it. One morning on her way to school Mary overtook the lamb, and it followed her. Mary put the lamb under her apron and went to her desk, and then she covered the lamb with her shawl. By-and-by Mary was called up to spell, and lo! the lamb followed her upon the floor. John Rowlton, the son of a Boston riding master, was at the school, and wrote the verses which have become immortal. Then he died. Then the lamb, having previously five little lambs, was killed by a cow. Mary still lives, and she tells this story to a correspondent of the Springfield Republican. Now, should not somebody put in poetry the tragedy that ended in the death of Mary's lamb?

The clerks in Washington are regularly assessed for politicial purposes, and $1,200 have been sent to Pennsylvania as a contribution (?) from this class of employees. It is gratifying to know, however, that several gentlemen at the heads of various bureaux have refused to allow their subordinates to be taxed in this shameful manner. It is to be hoped that resistance to these forced loans will become universal, and that the poor clerks will be allowed to spend their pay for themselves and families.—Norfolk Landmark.

MOODY AND SANKEY.—It is at last determined that Moody and Sankey are to begin their revival work in the great cities of this country in Brooklyn. This will be welcome news; for, notwithstanding our sister city is called "the City of Churches," few places are more in need of the spirit of reformation. The metropolis will also feel the benefits of [illegible] and Sankey will really embrace both cities.—Herald.

The wedding season is now fairly open, with the supply of brides fully equal to the demand; bridegrooms shaky with a disposition on the part of the maternal operators to bull the market.

While a Republican editor, in Rapides parish, La., was lying drunk, some young scapegraces painted his face black, and he was very much astonished when he got to his looking glass.

Mr. George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Ledger, has just paid in a subscription of $10,000 for stock in the Centennial Exhibition.

The revivalist Hammond has returned from California and, with his wife, has been visiting at Towanda, Pa.

The eldest son of the Prince of Wales is big enough now to dance with his royal grandmother.

THE DAILY NEWS.

TUESDAY.....OCTOBER 12, 1875.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Henderson wants a market house, and a lock-up in connection with it.

The meeting at Tryon Street M. E. Church, Charlotte, continues, and the interest is constantly increasing.

The Sampson County Agricultural Fair takes place this year earlier than usual, two weeks in advance of the Fayetteville Fair.

Capt. F. F. Everitt, late a conductor on the Carolina Central Railroad, was married in Wilmington on the 5th inst., to Miss Emily, daughter of J. G. Burr.

Says the Newbern Journal of Commerce: "Messrs. Geo. Allen & Co. shipped to Raleigh yesterday, for exhibition at the approaching State Fair, a Bigelow and a Bookwalter steam engine and a number of Atlas ones."

The Charlotte Observer says that an idea of how important a part the facilities form of mercantile portion of that community, can be had when one of their holidays come around. When their stores are closed, Charlotte looks like she was experiencing a semi-Sunday.

Says the Charlotte Observer of Sunday: "Last night six horses which are in training on the race course here were put aboard the North Carolina train and started to Raleigh, where they are entered for the races at the Fair there this week. These horses are: Abdel Koree, Abdela, Johnny and Burch's two.

From the Observer we learn that the portion of the Central Railway between Wilmington and Charlotte is henceforth to be known as the Eastern Division, and that between Charlotte and Shelby as the Western Division. Trains will not hereafter run through, but passengers will change at Charlotte directly from that of the Eastern to that of the Western Division.

Says the Reidsville Record: "Col. D. Settle was thrown from his sulky on Saturday last, while driving a young mule, and made a very narrow escape from being mangled to death, by having hung under the vehicle as he fell, and his person dragged a considerable distance. Fortunately he recovered the lines, checked the frightened mule, and with much bruising and several scars extricated himself from a most hazardous situation."

The Charlotte Observer has the following hit at Capt. Arrington, a railroadist well and popularly known throughout North Carolina: "It is well worthy of remark that Capt. Tom Arrington has just made two very valuable additions to his circus company. One of these is a young shark in this city, who has been secreted to sell candy in the circus; the other is an editor who lives in a town west of here, who will be engaged as keeper of the white polar bear. The circus will take the road as soon as Howes and Cole get out of the way."

Says the Wilmington Star: "Mr. W. F. Harlee, of Argyle, Robeson county, under date of Oct. 7th, tells what he knows about capturing deer as follows:

"As your paper is the organ of all those who cultivate manly sports in the field, forest and brake—whether the game be the tiny sparrow treacherously waylaid by the truant school boy, or the murderous grisley who receives his death wounds at the hands of a score of Nimrods—are they not all recorded in the Star. This encourages me to relate a feat of my own in the sporting line for the benefit of your readers.

"I was passing along the road near the house of Mr. Alex. Mackai, of this place, on yesterday, and near the roadside discovered a small dog—a cross of fice and cur—valiantly tacking a full-grown deer, with more luck than power. Your correspondent, without taking time to count the cost, sailed in to the assistance of that gallant little dog, and in less than five minutes, little dog, deer and myself were going through a species of acrobatic performances that can only be imagined by an old sportsman. Well, the result was, that deer was completely overcome, tied and brought safely home without any serious hurt, and now graces the fowl house of the victor in this difficult struggle.

"If any of your Nimrods can beat this, trot them out and I will try again."

The Charlotte Observer has received the sad intelligence of the death of William Shakespeare Harris, of Davidson College, who departed this life on Friday night last. He had been lingering for some time on his sick bed and his call to meet his Maker was not unexpected. Being a young and consistent elder of the Presbyterian Church, he left this world in the resignation and contentment of mind that only the righteous experience in their last moments.

Mr. Harris moved to Davidson College from Cabarrus county only a year or so ago, for the purpose of educating his children. He was elected to the Legislature from Cabarrus county before he had obtained the age of 21 years, and was chosen to fill the same position for many years afterwards, which he did with honor and credit to his native county. He was known well throughout this whole section of the State, as a gentleman of the ante-bellum type a gentleman of the South; high-toned and honorable in all his dealings, an affectionate father, a kind husband, and generous neighbor, a descendant of a noble and honored ancestry—dignified and courteous in his bearing and unimpeachable in his integrity. He has always been regarded as the finest pattern of pure morality—unstained patriotism and christian manhood. His family has formed an important link for many generations in the history of Western North Carolina; and after his three score years of usefulness he has been gathered to his fathers. An old and honored landmark has been swept away and a good man and public spirited citizen has been removed from our midst.

BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN.—There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of J. R. H. Carmer, Raleigh, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint or derangement of the System, try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Ague Conqueror is the only remedy in the United States that contains no Quinine, Arsenic, or other poisons injurious to the system, that will cure Fever and Ague, Intermittent or Billious Fevers, and the chills not return during the season. It permanently cures Fever and Ague of long standing.

INSURANCE.

THE MANHATTAN

Life Insurance Company,

OF NEW YORK.

A CARD.

Having determined to remain permanently in the Insurance Business, I have been most fortunate in securing the General Agency for North Carolina, of the

and I recommend it, with great confidence, to my Southern friends.

The Manhattan was established in 1850, and has progressed uninterruptedly for a quarter of a century. It has paid, in round numbers, $8,000,000 death claims, $4,000,000 in dividends to policy-holders and has now unquestionably good assets amounting to Ten Million Dollars!

Its undivided surplus is nearly $2,000,000, and it has $125.00 assets for every $100.00 of liabilities, and the interest account exceeds the claims paid.

The Manhattan has derived no portion of its assets from re-insuring the risks of unsuccessful companies. It tries no hazardous experiments, but conducts the business of Life Insurance in an economical, legitimate and straight-forward manner, just as a wise and prudent man manages his private affairs.

This Company adjusted its Southern business after the war, upon equitable and satisfactory terms to its policy-holders, and has never discriminated against the South, either in its Tables of Rates, or payment of dividends, but has been governed always by strictly business principles, applicable alike to all parts of the country.

All the ordinary kinds of Life and Endowment Policies issued, (also, Tontine Accumulating Policies) and dividends made annually.

Having thoroughly investigated the affairs and management of the Manhattan Life, I can say, conscientiously, that I regard it one of the very best and safest companies in America—otherwise I should not have accepted the agency.

For Plans and Rates (or agency) please call on or address me at Raleigh.

Very respectfully,

J. M. TATE,
se 26—eodDaWly General Agent.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Three Arrests for Murder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Three additional arrests have been made in the case of the murder of James H. Noe. A man who was with Dolan, the alleged murderer, on the day after the tragedy; a woman with whom he had been on the night before, and a man who had been in his company after the murder. The woman confessed that Dolan and his associate from Westchester, quit her on that Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. Dolan wore the light grey coat so accurately described by Mr. Noe. He returned at half past nine with his coat-collar turned up. His face was scratched and bleeding, his shirt front be damped with blood, and his vest torn. He was greatly excited. He retired to bed and awoke every few minutes. The woman, at noon, entered his room with a third man. Dolan, in his feverish sleep, had thrown the pillow on the floor and his head lay between Mr. Noe's gold watch and the pocketbook. Started by his fright, the woman threw herself upon him and exclaimed: "Oh! John, John, you have killed some one!" Dolan sprang out of the bed and implored them to say nothing. He gave the woman $5 50 of the money taken from Mr. Noe, to buy him a shirt. On her return, his accomplice had got rid of the bloody garment.

An Important Church Decision.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The long contested church case growing out of the suspension in 1868 of George H. Stuart, Esq., of this city, by general synod of reformed Presbyterian church for singing hymens and communion with other churches, was finally settled by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at Pittsburg in favor of the Stuart party. The particular case which has been decided was the suit against the Fifth reformed Presbyterian church of this city, Rev. Dr. W. C. Auley's, to eject them from their church property. By this decision they retain their property. The opinion of the Court was read by Judge Gordon, and is one of the most important church decisions ever given in this country.

The principles involved in this case will determine the suit pending against the first reformed Presbyterian church, (Rev. Dr. Wylies,) and the second, (Rev. Dr. Sterretts,) in favor of these churches and against the Synod.

FOLEY'S STATUE OF JACKSON.—This statue, presented by a number of English gentlemen to the State of Virginia, among whom J. Beresford Hope, M. P., was the most prominent, and which is to be unveiled in the city of Richmond on the 26th inst., is said to be one of the finest works of art extant. There has been much comment as to the painter of the portrait from which this statue was made, and as it turns out that North Carolina is entitled to this credit and a gentleman of this city to the honor of furnishing this portrait, we take pleasure in laying before our readers and inviting the attention of the Southern public to the following communications which explain themselves:

RICHMOND, Oct. 2, 1875.

W. Garl Brown, Esq., Raleigh:

MY DEAR SIR—We are having a discussion in the papers as to the best portrait of Stonewall Jackson. I claim that mine (yours) is the best, and assert that you painted it from the coat in which Jackson was wounded, his boots and sabre being furnished you by Mrs. Jackson.

Write me particulars about the painting of the picture.

1st. Did you have his uniform, sabre, &c. If so, which uniform?

2d. What assistance did Mrs. Jackson render you?

3d. How large is the picture you painted for her, compared to mine?

My picture is considered by Dr. McGuire, Maj. Harmon and others of his staff, perfect. So does Gens. Early, the Lees, Payne, and everybody who knew Jackson.

A letter will be printed in Monday's Dispatch, claiming that Guillaume painted one in 1865, from Jackson's clothes, which Mrs. Jackson lent Volck, the sculptor, which is the only true lifelike picture. I am going to challenge a comparison by a public exhibition of both, yours and Guillaume's, here on the 26th of October, the day of the unveiling of the Jackson statue, presented by J. Beresford Hope and other Englishmen.

Foley's statue was very incorrect when I saw it in England, and I had a photo of your picture taken and sent to him, and he remodeled the plaster cast from it, so the bronze statue is, in fact, a copy of your portrait. Write me a full particulars about your painting the portrait, and also how much you will make me a copy for.

Your obedient sv't.,
BRADLEY T. JOHNSON.

STUDIO, RALEIGH, N. C.,
October 8th, 1875.

Gen. Bradley T. Johnson:

MY DEAR SIR:—Your letter of the 2nd inst., for some reason or other, did not reach me until the 5th, and I avail myself of the earliest possible moment to reply. At the time I painted Stonewall Jackson, I had on hand the portraits of several other General officers, and had a number of uniforms of Generals in my Studio, but cannot remember correctly whether I had Gen. Jackson's or not, but my impression is, however, that I did have it, and think I had his sash and sword; Mrs. Jackson will probably recollect more accurately than myself.

Mrs. Jackson made a special visit to Raleigh at my request, to see the portrait of the General before its completion, and visited my Studio day after day for over a week, and brought with her her little daughter, whose eyes, as Mrs. J. informed me, were exceedingly like her father's, both as to expression and color. This was of great service, enabling me to produce that characteristic and peculiar expression so lacking in the photographs, and besides, Mrs. J. sat behind me watching with intense anxiety every touch of the brush until the completion of the work. Her admirable powers of description and the excellent suggestions which she made, were of great assistance in perfecting the likeness.

The portrait which I painted for Mrs. Jackson was life-size, representing him down to below the elbows—size of canvas 29x36 inches. So you will perceive it is not more than half the size of the portrait I painted for you.

I am delighted to learn that my Jackson has met with the approbation of so many staff officers, and am glad that you are going to exhibit the picture on the 26th of October, for comparison and just criticism are the only ways to determine merit.

I shall most certainly be in Richmond at that time, nothing serious intervening.

I am yours truly
and respectfully,
WM. GARL BROWNE.

A PET FOR A SCHOOL GIRL.—The Charlotte Observer tells the following.

"A few nights ago, while the route agent on the North Carolina Railroad was assorting the mail just before the train left this city, he heard a peculiar noise proceed from a package and upon examination found the package to contain a young alligator, about 10 inches in length. It was wrapped in several thicknesses of paper and addressed to a pupil at St. Mary's Female Seminary, at Raleigh. The fascinating pet was in a fair way to die before reaching, its (no doubt pretty) mistress and the route agent kindly put it in a bowl of water and announced his intention to transfer it, bowl and all to the Raleigh train, when he reached Greensboro. This pet came here with the through mail, and was no doubt sent by some love struck boy way down South, to his sweet-heart far away at school. By this time the alligator and his heart lie together at the fair one's feet."

"France," says the British Trade Journal, "is the one country in Europe that suffers no commercial reaction She wears a charmed life among the perils and vicissitudes of foreign trade. Where all else retrogrades or remains stationary, she progresses. During the first five months of the current year her exports amounted to 64 millions sterling—8 millions more than at the same period of 1874."

The new postal cards are being issued at the rate of over a million per day, the number thus far put out being 11,182,000.

THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL

Life Insurance Company

OF HARTFORD.

Incorporated in 1846.

Total Income during 1874. $ 0,049,013.10.
Total surplus returned to Policy-holders during 1874. $3,037,872.82.
Average per cent surplus returned to policy-holders in 1874, 40.44 per cent.

This percentage of surplus returned is much greater than that of any other company, and more than twice that of several leading ones. It is the legitimate and inevitable result of care in the selection of risks and high rate of interest received from well-invested assets. As the actual cost of the insurance to the policy holder is regulated, not by the table rate charged, but by the amount the Company is able to save and return to him from the premium paid this latter item is of the greatest importance. Manifestly the company which is able to return to its policy holders the most surplus premiums, furnishes the insurance at the lowest cost. And this fine history of its policies shows the Connecticut Mutual is actually doing.

Total amount of Surplus Premiums returned from organization to Dec. 31st, 1874, ... $35,000 00
Surplus Premiums are returned annually commencing at the payment of the second premium.
